SAMISH NAHASDA: TENANT BASED RENTAL ASSISTANCE (0017)

The Tenant Based Rental Assistance program (TBRA) provides targeted, low-income households with security deposits and rent assistance. Eligible households must have incomes that do not exceed 80 percent of the median household income for their area, per the published income limits by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). Eligible households may receive the deposits necessary to get them into a unit, or a combination of deposits and rental subsidies that enable them to pay no more than approved percent of their household income for rent and utilities. If a household is unable to leave the program after the designated period, their assistance may be renewed if funding allows. The tenant rent share increases as the tenant income increases. This activity results in no human environmental impact.
